

The Attic ACQ: Accelerating Sole Source Justification with AI

Sole source contract awards provide critical efficiency but require extensive justification documentation for compliance with the regulations of FAR 6.303. Manually drafting justifications is tedious and time-consuming.

The Attic's automated system streamlines this process through AI-generated justifications aligned to agency and activity specific requirements and forms.

How it Works

Users feed necessary awardee details, background documents, and other qualifying information into The Attic's platform. Natural language processing analyzes the specifics of the sole source scenario. The system then selects the appropriate regulatory template to follow.

Targeted AI models built for government contracting extract relevant details from the documentation. These details are synthesized into a justification draft using the selected template. The output holistically maps provided credentials to justification criteria.

Additional validation checks via specialized neural networks ensure accuracy, continuity, and proper regulatory coverage. Any corrections update the drafting models to reinforce quality control.

Benefits

Speed

- Reduces sole source justification time 90% from months to hours
- Enables rapid award deployment

Compliance Risk Reduction

- Ensures complete regulatory alignment
- Reduces protest and audit liability

The efficiency acceleration also drives cost reduction. Automation performs the heavy lifting, freeing up personnel resources. Together these enhance both the excellence and economic effectiveness of sole source processes.

Ultimately this AI solution unlocks tremendous sole source potential often hindered by manual inefficiencies and risks. Spend less time justifying, and more time executing mission-critical operations.
